Congress Debates Consumer Prices

CAPITOL HILL (UPI) - Heated discussion marked the House floor today as Congress debated the state of consumer prices. Many congressmen complained that the average American just can't afford a new house at today's price of $21,200.00.

Split along party lines, many Republicans felt that fifty-six cents for a half gallon of milk was a solid consumer bargain, while Democrats pointed out that ninety-five cents for a pound of bacon was too expensive for many. Since the average U.S. worker now earns a record annual wage of $7,532.00, many members of the House felt that twenty-two cents for a loaf of bread was quite affordable.

Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey noted that while ten pounds of potatoes had risen to seventy-five cents, he said that the American public had, in 1966, more buying power than ever before.
